Mr. C. Matthai.—As I said, Sirkar schools are better managed.

President.—That is a reflection on the management of the aided schools.

Mr. C. Matthai.—That is admitted by the department.

Mr. T. A. Ramachandra Ayyar.—What has the management to do with the attendance ?

President.—They ought to enforce proper attendance, which, probably, in the actual state of things, we find, is not done. Boys should either be suspended or some other disciplinary action should be taken. In Sirkar schools all those disciplinary rules are enforced to the very letter.

Mr. T. A. Ramachandra Ayyar.—There can be some difference. But here, only 10 out of 30 attended, whereas, in Sirkar schools, 99% attended.

Mr. C. Matthai.—There are very many Sirkar schools where there are 90%. You cannot take the worst among aided schools with the best among Sirkar schools.
